

DUST AND DREAMS

© Susan Craig, Lyrics. Mark Simpkin, Music.

INTRODUCTION (Kurna)

"This is the language of the Adelaide Plains, now you will learn some"

VERSE 1

I know you never had the chance, to ignite the light you have inside you,
See you shining; you only had dust and dreams.
Stopped the passage of your song lines, Now no direction, empty horizons and collisions,
You only had dust and dreams.

CHORUS

Warraitya Tangkuinyanthi, I felt the thud of your feet on the dust
Warraitya Tangkuinyanthi, I'm in a trance I'm willing to trust,
Warraitya Tangkuinyanthi, Can I dance with you and share your dreams.

VERSE 2

We said we knew what was best for you, We took your freedom, gave you prisons, bad decisions, You only had dust and dreams.
Sanding still in a no-man's land, Between the dreaming and the bleeding, still believing,
In your dust and dreams.

CHORUS

Warraitya Tangkuinyanthi, I felt the thud of your feet on the dust
Warraitya Tangkuinyanthi, I'm in a trance I'm willing to trust,
Warraitya Tangkuinyanthi, Can I dance with you and share your dreams.

BRIDGE

I saw you dance and you took my breath away, You are the dust and I saw you drift away,
Felt the rush when I heard your desert sound, Felt the hush from the sky right to the ground.
I saw you dance and you took my breath away, You are the dust and I saw you drift away, drift away into your dreams.

INTERLUDE:

"This is the language of the Adelaide Plains, now you will learn some" (Kurna)

VERSE 3 (REPEAT VERSE 1)

I know you never had the chance, to ignite the light you have inside you,
See you shining; you only had dust and dreams.
Stopped the passage of your song lines, Now no direction, empty horizons and collisions,
You only had dust and dreams.

CHORUS

Warraitya Tangkuinyanthi, I felt the thud of your feet on the dust
Warraitya Tangkuinyanthi, I'm in a trance and willing to trust,
Warraitya Tangkuinyanthi, Can I dance with you and share your dreams.
